That little scheme proposed by Congressman Payne, Republican, looking to a decrease in the war tax is job for political effect in the next campaign.

With a textile school in South Carolina, one in Georgia, one provided for in North Carolina and another in Mississippi, the South will have four, but she will have more.

Senator Pettus says he doesn't want to be classed as "a funny man." It was his first offence and the temptation was so great that he couldn't resist it. But he did it so well he must be forgiven.

As far as we have seen there hasn't been any reportorial rush for the girl since Mrs. Hettie Green announced that she would rather have her daughter marry a level-headed newspaper reporter than a duke.

In her South African war Lord Wolseley boasts that Great Britain has performed the feat of sending the largest army across the sea ever accomplished in the history of the world. And all against two small Republics.

There is one Nebraska Judge who does not believe in having things too previous. He has issued an injunction against a fellow courting a girl pending divorce proceedings in court, in which he figures as one of the principals.

The farmers of North Dakota have formed a State Grain Growers' Association, the object of which is to restrict the production of wheat, to keep up prices. This, like the efforts to curtail cotton production in the South, will probably result in increased production.

A newspaper reporter who died in South Africa recently married at the age of 26 a woman of 60 years, and it is said the union was a happy one. She was wealthy, which may account for the match, and he was away from home most of the time, which may account for the happiness.

When the Sultan of Turkey got word of those 250,000 Russian soldiers near Odessa, and the orders to that Baltic fleet he granted those concessions with alacrity, the condition being if the Porte didn't itself decide to construct a railway, of which it has not the remotest intention.

Chicago is in a quandary now with her drainage canal. The water from the lake rushes into the river so fast that it becomes a rapid and they can't manage boats on it, which will necessitate finding some other harbor for them, and thereat people having valuable property along the river are troubled.

LOCAL DOTS.

— Jefferson Lodge No. 1, K. of P., conferred the third degree upon a candidate last night.

— The April business meeting of Sorosis will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the club room.

— The tug Proctor, with barge in tow, passed out at Southport yesterday at noon for Charleston.

— Dr. McMillan's case of pemphigus at the City Hospital is doing well. The negro will be out in a short time.

— Wilmington Lodge No. 139, I. O. O. F., will to-night confer the initiatory degree on twenty-one candidates for membership.

— There were sales of spirits turpentine on the Wilmington market yesterday at 53@53½ cents. Tone of the market was steady.

— License was issued yesterday for the marriage of Miss Alice Horrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Horrell, to Mr. James R. Rogers, both of Delgado village.

— The schooner Wm. F. Campbell was cleared yesterday by Messrs. J. T. Riley & Co. for Kingston, Jamaica, with a cargo of lumber from the Kidder Lumber Company.

— A small fire over Mahler's saloon, corner of Water and Market streets, yesterday afternoon called out the fire department at about 4 o'clock. The damage was slight.

— At the A. C. L. car shops a number of "Jim Crows" are being built for use in South Carolina, where the new law, similar to that in North Carolina, goes into effect April 18th.

— Joint Lenten services by the congregations of St. James', St. Paul's and St. John's Episcopal Churches were held last night in St. John's Church. Rev. Dr. Robert Strange was the speaker.

— Mr. John L. Callihan, the genial custodian of the grounds about the postoffice, has the kindest acknowledgement of the STAR for a large bunch of violets plucked from the "green" yesterday morning.

— There will be sermons at Hampstead next Sunday by Elders J. P. King and J. W. S. Harvey to expose Mormonism. The preaching will take place by permission in a church erected by Mormons at Hampstead.

— The police had inquiry yesterday for a negro named James White, who is wanted by Sheriff Wm. T. Evans, of Marion, S. C., for the larceny of a bicycle. The negro had been here, but has "skipped" for Philadelphia.

— Cotton receipts yesterday were 1 354 bales, most of which came in over the W., C & A. railroad from points in South Carolina. The local quotations are unchanged; the New York spot market was up an eighth yesterday, closing at 9 11 16 cents for middling.

RESERVE CORPS ORGANIZED.

Wilmington Division Naval Reserves Will Have Organization of This Kind.

The STAR several days ago made mention of the fact that a movement was on foot by the Wilmington Division Naval Reserves to organize those eligible to membership into a reserve corps. The movement last night reached maturity at a meeting held for the purpose of organizing, upon which there was a large attendance.

Only those who have been continuously in the service for five years, under the existing laws, are entitled to membership, and of this class in the division there are about twenty five persons.

At the organization meeting last night the following officers were elected:

President—M. L. Skipper.
Vice President—D. D. Barber.
Secretary—J. W. Freeman.
Treasurer—J. B. Clement.

So far as is known, no other division of naval reserves in the State has a reserve corps and the organization of this branch last night bespeaks well for the Wilmington "tars."

Before Judge Simonton.

Major John D. Shaw, attorney for the S. A. L., and Cameron Morrison, Esq., attorney for several Richmond county cotton mills, passed through the city yesterday enroute from Rockingham to Charleston, where they will appear to day before Judge Simonton to argue a number of questions in the tax assessment cases, which went up from Standing Master Shepherd's court here last week, involving the right of the corporation commissioners to look into the question of whether certain railroad property in the State is assessed at full value and whether or not the Standing Master has the power to require the Acme Manufacturing Company of this city to produce its books in court, for the evident purpose of determining whether there has been discrimination in the value of this property with a number of other like corporations, and that of the defendant railroad corporations.

Hon. Franklin McNeill, chairman of the commissioners, E. K. Bryan, Esq., attorney for the Acme Manufacturing Co., George Rountree, Esq., A. C. L. attorney, and several other lawyers from Wilmington are also expected to be in attendance upon the hearing.

MILLINERY OPENING.

The Season's Offerings in All the Newest Parisian Styles and Creations.

REHDER'S STORE YESTERDAY.

To one not conversant with the art and bewildered by the gorgeous and brilliant display of fashionable selections of Parisian styles and beauties, it would appear a difficult task to write an account of the magnificent opening of Spring millinery yesterday at the big department store of Messrs. J. H. Rehder & Co., Nos. 615, 617 and 619 North Fourth street. It was only sufficient for the lady shoppers and connoisseurs of the art in the city to know that it was "Rehder's Opening," and they flocked to the big store yesterday and last evening in almost countless numbers to inspect what the season of 1900 had in store for them in the way of fashionable hats and millinery.

It was the first season's opening since the completion of the new millinery annex to the already spaciously appointed salesrooms of the store and it is not an erroneous expression to say that in many points the display eclipses that of any opening in the history of Wilmington. The annex was profusely decorated with bamboo, ferns, palms and tropical plants; the counters and sales tables were laden with fastidious pattern hats and latest importations of Parisian flowers, and millinery novelties—all grouped artistically and arranged tastefully with splendid effect—and the whole apartment brilliantly illuminated with many incandescent and fancy parlor lamps. An arch of large red, white and blue roses just over the entrance announced the "opening" and indeed it was a revelation in elegant styles and fancy creations. There was also a splendid display of silk skirts, shirt waists, ribbons, laces, trimmings and the hundred and one other things in this line, which, as a lady expressed it last evening, "can only be found in endless variety of style and price at Rehders'."

Miss Sarah Gardner, the accomplished and talented milliner in charge, is aided by a corps of seven assistants and each one was busy all day yesterday in showing the visitors about the store and taking orders for the handsome styles in pattern hats. Miss Gardner has recently returned from a two week's visit to the fashion centres of the North, where she attended many openings of new millinery and made large purchases from the leading importers of the world.

"There are many new and pretty styles in fashionabl head gear," remarked Mr. Rehder last night, "and we have them all in abundance from the 39 cent fancy the handsom to $25 Parisian beauties." "The prevailing trimmings this season," he said, "are light, fluffy materials—chiffons, foliages, Malines and the like—and fruits and large floral decoration appear to be among the newest creations."

The decorations incident to the opening were not alone confined to the millinery department, but the whole 17,000 feet of floor space in the mamoth store "had on its gala attire," so to speak, and each of the six large show windows contained a handsome display of Spring goods for sale within. Then, too, the clothing department in charge of Mr. E. Clayton Moore and the shoe department in charge of Mr. Levi McMillan, were not neglected. Both of these gentlemen also contributed largely to the beauty of the arrangment in other parts of the building. The dress goods notions, carpet and matting departments up-stairs, also came in for their share of the glory of the occasion.

During the progress of last evening's display a string band of four pieces discoursed enlivening music on the second floor, which by delightful intonation could be heard from pit to dome of the big store.

The opening, as a whole, was all that could be desired by the enterprising proprietor of the store, Mr. John H. Rehder, and it will be good news to those who did not find it convenient to visit the seore yesterday to know that the display will be continued through to-day and this evening, during which time they are cordially invited to call and examine the new goods.

China Wedding Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Fick, No. 14 South Fourth street, celebrated the twentieth year of their marriage last night by a splendid "China Wedding," to which were invited a large number of guests, including friends and relatives of the couple in whose honor the reception was arranged. Many of these called during the progress of the evening and congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Fick upon the happy occasion in their life, wishing for them an abundance of happiness and prosperity in future years. Those present were served with delightful and seasonable refreshments, which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Death of a Child.

Mr. F. H. Krahnke yesterday received a telegram from Southport announcing the death of a little child of Mr. Jno. H. Risley, engineer of one of the government steamboats at work in the lower Cape Fear waters and well known in Wilmington. A casket will be sent down on the steamer this morning and the remains will be brought up this evening for interment on Masonboro Sound.

THE FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT

The Advertising Committee Has Begun Active Work—Finance Committee Will Begin Canvass Early.

Capt. "Billy" Monroe, chairman of the advertising committee, will in a few days send out the invitations for The Firemen's Tournament to all the fire companies not only in this State but in Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia and in order to let the people know what Wilmington is going to do, upon this occasion it must be thoroughly advertised. Charlotte, a city of less population than Wilmington is arranging for a celebration on the twentieth of May and their prize list embraces the following extraordinary inducements:

Grab race—First prize, $150; Second prize, $75.

Horse Hook and Ladder—First prize, $175; Second prize $75.

Horse Hose Wagon—First prize, $75; Second prize, $75

The total amount of prizes is $900, and it is only a one day affair, while the Interstate Tournament here lasts a whole week. The question is asked "Why can't Wilmington, a city of 30 000 people, the second largest naval store port in the world, raise $3 000?

Another gentleman added, "In order to do so our business men, hotels, boarding houses, etc., must contribute liberally. If these tournaments did not benefit a city, Charlotte would not have one every year."

Capt. "Billy" Monroe will call upon the business men and ask their permission to stamp a small ad upon the back of their envelopes to help advertise the coming event. He finished 100,000 for The Orton yesterday afternoon. He has received letters from Greensboro, Tarboro, Winston, Salisbury, Lumberton, Greenville, Goldsboro, Wilson, Concord and Kinston, stating that they would be represented. It has been suggested that the daily papers publish from day to day the amounts that are donated and by whom.

In order to offer large prizes, erect a grand stand, have a band of music and advertise the coming event, it will take $2,500, but will bring upwards of 10,000 people to the city. Every body should talk the Firemen's tournament.

N. C. HOME BUILDING ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Board of Directors Elected.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Home Building Association was held last night at the office of the secretary and treasurer in the Seaboard Air Line building.

Mr. G. W. Chesnutt was called to the chair and a committee consisting of Messrs. J. Weil, F. H. Stedman and C. W. Yates was appointed to verify proxies, and they reported a majority of the stock represented, upon the announcement of which the chairman declared the meeting ready for business. The report of the secretary and treasurer was read and approved. The report shows the institution in a very flourishing condition and upon a sound financial basis.

Upon motion, Section 3, Article 2 of the constitution, limiting the amount of stock to any shareholder at fifty shares, was repealed,

The following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year, viz: Messrs. C. W. Yates, Henry Savage, J. Weil, W. H. Bernard, W. E. Worth, J. S. Worth, W. J. Reaves, E. S. Pigford, J. W. Freeman, I. J. Bear, C. C. Chadbourn, A. D. Brown, F. H. Stedman and R. R. Bellamy.

ODD FELLOWS' COMMITTEES.

They Will Arrange for the Eighty-first Anniversary Celebration.

At a meeting of the joint committee from the four lodges of Odd Fellows in the city to arrange for the celebration of the eighty-first anniversary of American Odd Fellowship on April 26th, Col. Walker Taylor was elected chairman of the joint committee and Mr. John R. Turrentine, Jr., secretary.

The committee has been named as follows:

Cape Fear Lodge No. 2—W. H. Yopp, W. M. Jacobi and Walker Taylor.

Orion Lodge No. 67—W. H. Hodges, J. S. Barnes and B. R. Penny.

Wilmington Lodge No. 139—J. J. Hopkins, J. D. Barber and John R. Turrentine, Jr.

Hanover Lodge No. 145.—W. H. Howell, E. F. Johnson and C. F. Williams.

Sub committees have also been appointed to invite a speaker, arrange for music and refreshments, hall, decorations, etc.

New Distillery in Brunswick.

Deputy Collector C. M. Babbitt, of Newbern, returned yesterday from Leland, Brunswick county, where he "did the government honors" for the opening of a new whiskey distillery near there by Mr. James A. Watkins. The registered number is 3,699 and the distillery will begin operations at once. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Babbitt was about the city on an official tour and confiscated a barrel of gin for alleged irregularities.

Smallpox in Pender.

Dr. George F. Lucas, of Pender county, who was in the city yesterday brought news of a supposed case of smallpox at Sloop Point on the Sound in that county. Dr. Lucas is Superintendent of Health in Pender and was here to confer with authorities on the disease as to the best methods of diagnosing, etc.

Rogers-Grilley Recital.

Mr. Van Veachton Rogers and Mr. Grilley, in their second appearance before a Wilmington audience last night in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, sustained their deserved reputation of being excellent entertainers. The recital was said to have been fully up to the standard of its excellence here two years ago and a very large audience was well pleased with the number.

DELEGATE-AT-LARGE.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., April 3rd.

EDITOR MORNING STAR:—Having in view the assured nomination of William J. Bryan, the Democratic Convention of Cumberland county, instructed its delegates by a unanimous and rising vote to ask the State Convention to send the Hon. E. J. Hale as a Delegate-at-Large to the National Convention. It was the sense of the convention that this would be an appropriate recognition of his exceptional services in behalf of Mr. Bryan and the principles he represents, and the policies advocated by him.

As is well known Major Hale enjoys the confidence and esteem of the leaders of the National Democracy in an unusual degree.

He was one of the eight invited to decide upon the original draft of the Chicago platform, and was the author of several of its important provisions.

On the day on which it was known that Mr. Bryan was defeated for the Presidency, Major Hale placed his name at the head of his paper, the Fayetteville Observer, as the party's candidate for 1900 and has kept it there ever since. He said he did this because, in his belief, Mr. Bryan embodied the principles whose enforcement, he predicted, would be necessary for the preservation of the republic. He has stuck to this presaging text with a persistency and consistency which surpass, as far as my observation goes, those of any other public men in the Union. At the same time he has been loyal in the highest degree and under all circumstances to the State Democracy, while years ago he began to advocate the policy which has culminated in the present supreme issue.

For these reasons, and in conformity with the action of the Cumberland Democracy, I have felt it to be my duty, as it is my pleasure, with your kind permission, to address the State Democracy in his behalf.

It would be a graceful recognition of Major Hale's distinguished services and ability for the State Convention to elect him delegate-at-large by acclamation.

INSANE ASYLUM DIRECTORS.

Officers Elected at Board Meeting Held in Raleigh—Undertakers' Association Elect Officers

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., April 4.—At a meeting of the Directors of the Insane Asylum here to-day the following resident officers were elected: Dr. C. L. Jenkins, first assistant physician, re-elected; Dr. E. B. Ferebee, of Camden county, second assistant physician, to succeed Dr. George Davis, of Beaufort, resigned; Mr. W. R. Crawford, Jr., steward, re elected; Miss Minnie Whitaker, matron, re-elected. Jas. K. Kenan, of Duplin county, was chosen a director to fill the vacancy on the board made by the resignation of Dr. R. H. Speight, of Edgecombe.

The North Carolina Undertakers' Association to day elected and installed the following officers: President, J. M. Harry, of Charlotte; First Vice President, H. W. Simpson, of Newbern; Second Vice President, C. W. Brown, of Asheville; Third Vice President, J. W. Brown, of Raleigh; Secretary, W. L. Bell, of Concord; Treasurer, E. G. Flannagan, of Greenville. J. F. Woolvin, of Wilmington, is a member of the legislative committee of the Association.

Attorneys both for the Corporation Commission and for the railroads went to Charleston to day to argue points raised during the taking of testimony in the tax cases at Wilmington last week and submitted to Judge Simonton by standing master James E. Sheppard.

DUPLIN CONVENTION.

Democrats Made Endorsement of Candidates and Elected Delegates to State Convention—Primaries Called.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

KENANSVILLE, N. C., April 2.—The Democratic Convention of Duplin county was held here to day in the court house. Hon. J. F. Hill was elected temporary chairman. Temporary organization was made permanent.

The following delegates to the State Convention were selected to wit: J. V. Carr, F. H. Autree, S. O. Middleton, H. G. Owen, E. McM. Call, J. W. Carroll, Herbert Smith, P. H. Kornegay, H. D. Williams, T. F. Hill, Jno. M. Faison, C. S. Carr. Alternates, Neill Moore, J. A. Powell, J. Faison, J. B. Williams, W. L. Hill, J. G. Kenan, L. A. Beasly, J. A. Gains, Jr., B. R. Graham, J. L. Kornegay, D. L. Carlton, A. F. Williams.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved 1st. That we, the Democracy of Duplin county in convention assembled, hereby endorse the able, faithful and conscientious manner in which our representative in Congress, the Hon. Chas. R. Thomas, has discharged the duties of his office, and we earnestly recommend his re nomination and re election, and we pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to that end.

Resolved 2nd. That whereas at the August election the people of North Carolina will elect a Governor and other State officers, and whereas there has been one man who has been conspicuous in his untiring efforts in behalf of white supremacy and good government, and has contributed by his splendid talents upon the stump and in bringing about the existing reign of good government in North Carolina; therefore be it resolved, that we endorse C. B. Aycock for Governor.

Resolved 3rd, That we endorse the Hon. F. D. Winston for Attorney General and the Hon. B. F. Grady for Superintendent of Public Instruction. Resolved further, that we heartily approve the plan of submitting to the primaries the election of United States Senators.

Resolved 4th, That we heartly endorse the action of our Representatives in the last Legislature, J. F. Hill and J. O. Carr, and take pleasure in recommending J. F. Hill for renomination as Senator for this district.

After adjournment of the convention, the county executive committee was called into session, when and where it was decided that the primaries at the different voting precincts be held on the second day of June next for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to meet in Kenansville the first Monday in June for the purpose of completing our county ticket.

A SAD DEATH.

Little Leroy, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cooper, passed away yesterday morning at the home of his parents, corner Fifth and Campbell streets, after a long and lingering illness of about four weeks. Just a week ago the little fellow was improving nicely, and at that time all hopes for his speedy recovery were looked for, but all in vain. Tuesday he suddenly took a change for the worse, and in spite of all medical aid and careful nursing he began to sink rapidly until the end came at 2 50 o'clock A. M. Leroy was a bright and polished little fellow, and was well thought of by his young associates, many of whom called at his home yesterday when the sad news was broken to them. The remains were carried to Columbia, S. C., yesterday afternoon over the A. C. L., where the interment will take place to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The commissioner of railroads has notified me that the usual reduction in rates will be granted on account of the Christian Endeavor Convention to be held in Raleigh, April 26 29. Tickets will be on sale April 24, 25 and 26, and will be good to return until May 1. The expense will not be great from any point in the State and every C. E. Society should arrange at once to send delegates to the Convention. It will be worth the cost of the ticket to hear Mr. Shaw alone; but in addition to this there will be many other interesting and helpful features on the programme. It is the duty of all North Carolina Endeavorers to make "Raleigh, 1900," the best Convention in every way that we have had in our history. MAMIE BAYS.

AS PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Admiral Dewey's Announcement Not Looked Upon Seriously by Democratic Members of Congress.

[Special Star Telegram.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Admiral Dewey's announcement as a Presidential candidate is not looked upon seriously by Democratic members. The sentiment of the North Carolina delegation is exactly in accord with the following views of Representative Kluttz, who, when asked about the announcement, said: "I cannot take Dewey seriously as a Presidential candidate, nor do I think our country will do so. I do not even know to what party he belongs, nor what are his views upon any public question. The fight will be between McKinley and Bryan, and I believe Bryan will be elected."

Mr. Kitchin's joint resolution authorizing the President to appoint David Bagley, brother of Ensign Worth Bagley, who was killed at Cardenas, to the Naval Academy has been favorably reported and referred to the committee of the whole in the House.

Infantry Association.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Third North Carolina Infantry Association was held last night in the assembly room of the Wilmington Light Infantry. Only routine matters of no general interest to the public were discussed.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 5.

SURVEYING THE FIELD IN THE WEST.

Yesterday we published a letter of Hon. John W. Bookwalter, of Ohio, in which, writing to a friend, he gave freely his views as to what he thought should be the course pursued by the Democratic party in the next campaign. These views are important in so far as they express the sentiments of a Democrat of national reputation, and one of the ablest champions of bimetallism, opposed to a protective tariff although a manufacturer, and opposed to plutocracy although several times a millionaire, in other words a Democrat from choice, from conviction and from principle. There are many Democrats who partially if they do not wholly agree with him, and there are many who are counselling together to remove the barriers to unity, and find some common ground on which all battlers for constitutional government may stand and act together.

Unless there has been much misrepresentation, or at least exaggeration, in the reports as to the situation in the West, which holds the fate of the parties in its hand, there is a growing revolution of public sentiment there, a revolution which has been steadily growing for some time, but rapidly since the administration at Washington, and the Republican majority in Congress perpetrated the Porto Rican infamy. This was the last feather that broke the camel's back. Thousands of Republicans in that section and in other sections too, for that matter, felt like speaking out before at the cringing of the party leaders to the money lenders, trusts, and expansion schemers, but they hesitated to speak out in protest against their party until this Porto Rican infamy filled them with indignation which they could not repress.

That act was not more monstrous than some which preceded it, but it was the culmination of monstrosities, and conspicuous for its shameful breach of faith shocked the decent and the honorable and the honest sentiment of the country, and hence the almost universal protest against it.

Monday's issue of the Philadelphia Record contains a letter written at Omaha, by its regular correspondent, which is interesting, as showing the revolution in sentiment to which we have referred, the tendency towards the Democratic party, and which to some extent accords with the views of Mr. Bookwalter. Describing the situation, it begins thus:

"The political situation in the Middle West at the present time presents as many features to the student of politics as there are plots and counter plots in the usual fourth-class drama. Party divisions have become so complicated, commercialism is so arrayed against financial agitation, Americanism is so dominant against exclusion or partial exclusion of trade with those possessions willingly coming under the American flag that it requires the most careful study by party leaders before they express themselves upon any matter affecting national politics.

* * * *

"On the tariff features leaders of both parties are outspoken, and it is safe to say that not more than ten per cent. of the population of the Central Western States, comprising the States of Nebraske, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Kansas and Missouri, believe that the tariff provision should be retained in regard to the products of Porto Rico. This includes Nebraska even, the State which will be most affected by free trade with Porto Rico, because of the immense beet sugar interests of its farmers.

"The sentiment of the Central West was fitly expressed by the passage last week by the lower House of the Iowa Legislature of a resolution declaring that 'the people of Iowa are unaltera bly opposed to the establishment of any tariff' between the United States and Porto Rico.

"The passage of the resolution has caused a stir which will widen as do the ripples of a pond until it shall have encompassed the franchises of the people to be delivered next November."

The writer here names a number of leading Republican papers of Iowa which endorse that resolution and emphatically condemn that tariff iniquity and remarks that in Nebraska, although a sugar beet growing and manufacturing State, the same feeling exists as in Iowa. Speaking of other factors at issue the letter concludes thus:

"Other issues which will be marked in the coming political battle are the dominance of trusts, forcible expansion of territory and the demonetization of silver.

"To trusts the Western people are unalterably opposed. A few papers seek to make a defence of gigantic combinations by urging that enormity of production, increase in trade locally and in foreign lands, and commercial superiority over other nations require great aggregations of capital. Against this the farmer and workingman, who comprise the vast majority of the people, point to small wages in the East, and centralization of operations and operatives, to the disadvantage of the employe. The man who handles a pick and shovel on the streets of Western cities receives more pay than the man at the loom can make. Prosperity of the factory man of the East, as conveyed in press reports, telling of increases of ten per cent. in pay, when accompanied by the statement, as in the Fall River case, that the employes had been receiving an average of $6 per week and were now receiving an average of $6 60, only served to create derision in the Western workingman.

"As to expansion, the people may be said to be weary of war. Continued reports of casualties in the Philippines, a majority of which affect the homes of Western people, and the huge losses sustained during the early part of the conflict with the Filipinos by the Western volunteers, have not tended to reconcile the views of the Western people with those of the Administration.

"A plain declaration that it is the purpose of this Government to restore peace to the Philippines, assist in the establishment of an independent Government, and afterward to throw the mantle of American protection of this Republic over a Republic to be established in the Orient would settle the minds of the Western people and restore to a considerable degree the political status.

"On the currency question the press of the East is making a serious mistake in believing, or representing a belief, that the issue is dead. It is only dormant. It will be revived in 1904, and the revivification will come from a quarter entirely unexpected at present by the pulic at large. At present, owing to the necessity, according to the Democratic mind, of harmonizing differences in the party and securing the support of the East, it is considered the better policy to allow the silver issue to be least prominent. Conservative Democrats, therefore, believe that the platform adopted by the Nebraska conventions is too full of detail to be considered suitable for a national declaration, while it fully meets with approval as a State platform. In this latter light the Democratic press of the adjoining States of Iowa and South Dakota, whether standing for the single standard or for bimetallism, sustains its provisions.

"There is a growing belief that with McKinley as a choice of the Republicans and Bryan as the choice of the Democrats, Bryan will win, and in order to secure the nomination of the man for whom all Western Democrats have the highest respect they are willing to refrain from flaunting the red flag too strongly in the face of the Eastern gold faction. Hence it cannat be believed that any attempt will be made nationally for a double declaration on the silver issue, as is contained in the Nebraska platform by its general endorsement of the Chicago platform, with an additional distinct reference to free coinage."

These are the views of a correspondent, surveying the political field and reporting the situation as he finds it, written for and published in a paper which opposed Wm. J. Bryan in the last campaign, and attest not only the devotion of the Western Democrats to this earnest, magnetic leader, but are somewhat significant of the change of sentiment in some who opposed him when in 1896 he stood in the arena against McKinley and Hanna's millions and bore aloft the banner of the toiling millions.

MR. DAVIS ON THE BOERS.

The announcement that Mr. Webster Davis, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, who has recently returned from a visit to the scene of hostilities in South Africa, had sent in his resignation and would take to the lecture platform to plead the cause of the Boers, has attracted wide-spread attention on account of his official position and the further fact that when he went to South Africa it was thought he was sent on a tour of observation, to secure information for the guidance of the Washington authorities. In a recent interview Mr. Davis gives the reasons why he has taken the position he has, and espouses the cause of the Boers, as follows:

"It is purely a matter of sympathy on my part. I went to South Africa unprejudiced, visited both armies, saw much of the British soldiers and people and also much of the Boers. After seeing what I did I made up my mind that the cause of the Boers was just, that the two smallest Republics in the world were struggling against the greatest Empire in the world for justice and independence. The struggle seemed to me very unequal. The whole number of Boers, including men, women and children, is not greater than the population of the city of Washington, and yet these brave people have the courage to put up the greatest fight in history against an Empire of four hundred millions. I concluded at once that my sympathies were with those struggling for liberty, and I feel that the American people should sympathize with them in their fight for justice and independence.

"When I entered the train at Pretoria, on my return home, fully 2,000 men and women, mostly women, whose husbands and fathers and sons were at the front, gathered at the station to bid me goodbye, and as the tears rolled down many of their faces they made the last request of me that I do everything within my power upon my return home to let the American people know of their exact condition; to let them know how they had been abused and outrageously misrepresented by the English. The English correspondents have no trouble in getting their dispatches over the cable lines, as they are controlled absolutely by the British, and, while it is impossible for information regarding the situation from the Boers' standpoint to reach the American people, if I did not, as a free American, decide to listen to their appeals, my conscience would burn, and the faces of those suffering people, as brave and as noble as God ever let live in any land, would haunt me as long as I live. I am, therefore, determined to do everything in my humble way to assist them. Their cause is just and in the light of the past history of the American people, who went through the same struggle, I believe the Boers will win."

"Mr. Davis was asked what course he would have the people of this country pursue in order to assist the Boers. He replied: 'Do anything and everything within their power, and let Great Britain and the world know that the sympathies of the American people are not with Great Britain, but with the Boers, and in the interests of humanity and civilization. We should let the world know that such an unholy war should stop and stop at once.'"

CATARRH OF THE PELVIC ORGANS.

The Reason Why So Many Women Are Sick.

Mrs. Eliza Wike, 190 Iron St., Akron, O.

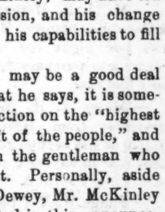
Mrs. Eliza Wike says: "I would be in my grave now if it had not been for your God-sent remedy, Pe-ru-na. Everybody says I am looking so much better. No doctor could help me as Pe-ru-na did. I was a broken-down woman. It is now seven years past that I was cured."

Mrs. Sarah Gallitz, of Luton, Ia., also writes: "I was suffering with the change of life. I had spells of flowing every two or three weeks, which would leave me nearly dead. I had given up hope of being cured, when I heard of Dr. Hartman's remedies and began to use them. I am entirely cured, and give all the credit to Pe-ru-na."

But comparatively few women who are suffering with pelvic catarrh know that this is the case. Their trouble is called dyspepsia, heart trouble, female weakness, weak lungs, nervous debility; indeed, almost the whole category of medical terms has been applied to catarrh of some organ of the female anatomy. If these women could only realize that their trouble is probably catarrh of the organs peculiar to women or pelvic organs, and cure themselves with Pe-ru-na, how much unnecessary suffering would be saved.

Mrs. Karolina Suter, 2138 Vine street, Cincinnati, O., says: "Two years ago I fell on the ice. At first I did not think that I had hurt myself; but several months after I felt pains in the abdomen, and a little later my menses failed to appear. I wrote to you in regard to it, hearing that you cured female troubles, and followed your directions. I took Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin. I now have the best of health.

Mrs. Marie Hanson, of Niebull, Wis., writes: "About two years ago I had disease of the kidneys and womb. I was in a weak, nervous condition and began to have dreadful palpitation of the heart. I was confined to the bed. I had given up all hope of ever being well again. I commenced taking Pe-ru-na. I found relief when I had taken the first bottle. Now I have taken seven bottles of Pe-ru-na. I thank you for your advice and I am glad I can say that I am well now.



Dr. Hartman has written a book especially for women. It treats of female catarrh in all its different phases and stages. It contains common sense talks on subjects which should interest every

A book will be sent free to any woman. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

THE INFAMY ACCOMPLISHED.

As has been appaient for some time the Porto Rican bill, embracing the tariff provisions, passed the Senate Tuesday. This completes the infamy as far as imperialism and the utter ignoring of the constitution of the United States and of our solemn pledges go. The Republican majorities in both Houses of Congress, with the President in accord with them, have thus boldly made the issue, in the face of the numerous and vehement protests of leading Republican organs, representing millions of Republican voters, which have in unmeasured phrase denounced this act as one of the crowning infamies of legislation, one for which there was no defence and no palliation.

This general protest came up from the people after the House had passed the tariff bill, with the hope that the Senate would put on the brakes and hold the infamy up, but the friends of the trusts and protected interests were more powerful than public sentiment, and the "cowards," as Speaker Henderson called the Senators who were opposed to the tariff scheme, were whipped in to support it, not all of them, perhaps, but enough to secure its passage. It remains to be seen whether they can whip in the protesting organs and the people as they have whipped in the "cowards" in both Houses of Congress.

BOOK NOTICES.

Gunton's Magazine for April contains a number of interesting papers on political and economic subjects, much of it referring to home matters now under discussion. Published by The Gunton Company, Union Square, New York.

The Review of Reviews is always interesting, but is more than usually so for April. There are several able articles on subjects now attracting the attention of the American people, with a large amount of additional matter on miscellaneous topics, well illustrated. The April number of McClure's Magazine presents a varied and interesting list of comments, one of the articles being an illustrated one showing how some of the ice boats used by the Russians in Arctic waters cut through ice more than thirty feet tick. There are other papers, stories, &c., which will instruct the reader. Published by The S. S. McClure Company, 141-155 E. 25th street, New York.

The April number of the North American Review presents some notable articles on questions relating to England and the Transvaal, and to the United States and her new acquisitions, discussed from several standpoints followed by other papers on economic, scientific and religious subjects, all by able writers. Address The North American Review, No. 11 Warren street, New York.

Editor Watterson, who kicked out of the traces in 1896, comes up to the rack and announces that the Courier-Journal will support the nominees of the Kansas City Convention, whoever they may be.

A Life And Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1 00 Trial bottle 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. †

IT READS LIKE A FAKE.

The announcement by the New York World, on the strength of an interview with Admiral Dewey by its Washington correspondent, that the Admiral has decided to offer himself as a candidate for the Presidency, reads like a fake, although there is little probability that it is a fake. Dewey is made out of pretty much the same kind of stuff that other Americans are, and if any one imagines he wouldn't like to be President, he hasn't given much attention to the study of the man.

If correctly reported in the alleged interview he gives evidence of weakness, for the reasons he gives for his change of decision are in the nature of an apology for changing it, when ambition gained mastery over his modesty. It is not creditable to his sincerity to suppose that he has in a short time on shore discovered, what had failed to strike him in all his previous life, that "it doesn't take much brains to make a President," which he practicaliy reiterates in this interview. Personal observation, however, and the proximity into which he has be drawn with Mr. McKinley, may have led to this conclusion, and his change of views as to his capabilities to fill the office.

While there may be a good deal of truth in what he says, it is somewhat of a reflection on the "highest office in the gift of the people," and incidentally on the gentleman who is now filling it. Personally, aside from Admiral Dewey, Mr. McKinley is more interested in this announcement than any other citizen who may aspire to that office, for if a strong sentiment should be developed against him, the expediency politicians in the Republican party might turn to Dewey, nominate him and lay Hanna's man on the shelf.

A case of brotherly devotion has just come to light in South Carolina. A farmer was waylaid and robbed. Eugene Mills and another man did the job and were arrested. Eugene confessed and was sentenced by the magistrate to pay a fine of $50 and serve thirty days in the chain gang. When Eugene had served his time the farmer continued the prosecution and this time had Eugene's brother Charles arrested. The resemblance was so great that it is difficult to tell them apart, but the farmer swore Charles was the boy who robbed him, and he was convicted after pleading not guilty. He was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary and had served nearly three before the facts were discovered, when the Governor immediately issued a pardon. He could have escaped by informing on his brother, which he declined to do, or to mention the fact of the previous conviction of his brother by the magistrate's court.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Statesville Landmark: A gratifying feature of the report of the Democratic primaries in this county Saturday, is the fact that many Populists returned to their first love and a few Republicans cast their lots with the Democrats.

— Greenville Reflector: Stock for the cotton factory now reaches something over $30,000. As soon as $50.000 has been subscribed a meeting of the subscribers will be called for the purpose of organization. The factory is sure to come, and no one need hesitate about subscribing for stock when approached about it.

— Fayettville Observer: Mrs. Sarah Bryan passed away Tuesday morning at her residence on Haymount, after a brief illness, though she had long been in feeble health, aged about 77 years. She was the relict of the late Josiah Bryan, for many years postmaster at Fayetteville, and daughter of the late George Hodges, the well known architect of this place.

— Durham Herald: Two of the worst criminals on the Durham county road gang escaped about 3 o'clock Monday morning. Their names are Lee Harris, alias Rockhouse, and Will Walker, alias Will Dooley. They were sent out for larceny and owe the county about eight months each of hard labor. Both Harris and Walker are criminals who have "done time" on the road gang of Durham county more than once. This is the second time that they have escaped since being sent out the second time. The first time they were captured at Pittsboro.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— England learned something by her experience with the American colonies, namely, how to govern her other colonies and make them satisfied with her rule, but the United States learned nothing by the same token, and needs must now go through a bitter experience of her own with Porto Rico. Isn't it a pity that we cannot profit by the lessons learned by others?—Mobile Register, Dem.

—— "Gen. Wheeler," says the Philadelphia Times, "is not only severely criticised by his old political friends, but is assailed and ostracized because he has been above all things a patriot and a hero." There is not the most remote danger of his being ostracized in this part of the country, but is it not just a little strange that the Annexation Administration could not find anything far "a patriot and a hero" to do in the Philippines?—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—— Cecil Rhodes is regarded by the most eminent officers of the British army in South Africa as a pretentious fraud, who has done immeasurable injury to his country. A reliable correspondent, writing from London, says that "when Sir George White, the chivalrous soldier, found that Rhodes was coming to England on the steamer in which he also had taken a berth he held back and took passage on the following one." Chatanooga Times, Dem.

—— So Olivier's force went through to Kroonstad with its twenty miles of wagons, and French returns to Roberts with a tale of utter failure. For a nation of sportsmen the English are being strangely beaten as riders and scouts by these Boers. It is not that they lack bravery to the limit of recklessness, but the proof is now in that the gymnasium and the military school do not train and harden men as do actual experience after big game and the life of a frontier. Where will we get our rough riders when we have civilized all between the oceans and the plantations are no more?—Jacksonville (Fla.) Times—Union and Citizen, Dem.

"To tell you the truth, I haven't seen any actors whose work suggested any reason whatever for my being jealous."—Washington Star.

— Jack—"How did you come out on that bulldog pup you bought?" Dick—"Lost over a hundred per cent. on the transaction." Jack—"Oh, I guess not. A hundred per cent is all you can possibly lose." Dick—"Think so, do you? Well, I paid $10 for the pup, and then I had to give a boy a dollar to take him out and drown him. If that isn't a hundred and ten per cent. loss, I'd like to know what you it."

— Goldsboro Argus: The death of Miss Eva Willis, daughter of Rev. R A. Willis, at one time pastor of St. Paul's Church, in this city, where he has the love of our entire community, and their inexpressible sympathy in his sad bereavement, occurred Monday at their home in Elizabeth City. The remains passed through this city Tuesday on their way to Fayetteville for interment.

— Tribulation is God's threshing—not to destroy us, but to get what is good, heavenly and spiritual in us separated from what is wrong, earthly and fleshy. Nothing less than blows of pain will do this. The evil clings so to the good, the golden wheat of goodness in us is so wrapped up in the strong chaff of the old life that only the heavy flail of suffering can produce the separation.—*J. R. COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Cotton prices took a high level to-day, following stronger cables. The market opened steady at an advance of one to seven points and further advanced ten to nineteen points. The upward movement forced local covering without stimulating speculative trading by outsiders. It was not a broad market The advance was accelerated by unsatisfactory reports from the cotton belt regarding the crop, and also disappointing receipts at ports and interior. Cables reported that sellers were scarce in the English market, while there was a good demand from Manchester and the Continent; others said the rise was due to manipulation. Local traders were disposed to take the short side of the account, but were intimidated by fears of manipulation. In the early afternoon there was considerable realizing, under which the market ruled somewhat easier. Later, prices again rallied on heavy buying of May and August. The market was finally steady, with prices net eight to twenty-three points higher.

WHITE MAN'S LIQUOR

CURSE OF DRINK THAT CIVILIZATION CARRIES WITH IT.

United States Follows England In Spreading Worldwide a Business Whose Fruits Are Damnable—Alcohol's Woeful Effects.

When 219 carloads of X— beer were shipped to Manila, the world wondered. What industry was this that shipped its product by 1½ miles of trains to that remote spot? Yet that enterprise has been repeated 100 times over. Wherever civilization has gone X— beer has followed.—From an Advertisement.

The full meaning of the above paragraph is better appreciated if the reader will keep in mind a few facts—some of them well known and recognized for a long time and some more recently made public.

X— beer is not alone among the drinks of civilization that have been and are now pushed forward on to the skirmish line of the white man's advance. Wherever civilization has gone it has taken its beverage poisons to curse those to whom it has ostensibly been bringing the benefits of enlightenment and Christianity. The story of Africa's wrongs at the hands of both old and New England is old and oft told. The church has blushed again and again when newly converted chiefs have written letters of appeal to Christian rulers imploring them to prevent the destruction of their childish people by the white man's liquor, and all students of the temperance question recall the startling words of Archdeacon Jeffreys of the English church, who, roused by the awful drunkenness that he saw growing in India, said:

"For one really converted Christian as the fruit of missionary labor—for one person 'born of the Spirit' and made 'a new creature in Christ Jesus'.—for one such person the drinking practices of the English have made 1,000 drunkards. If the English were driven out of India tomorrow, the chief trace of their ever having been there would be the number of drunkards they left behind."

But it is not alone the unfortunate natives, "half devil and half child," who bear the curse of the drink that civilization carries with it. England's sins against her poor Indian subjects have for more than a century been visited upon many of those of her own sons whom she has sent out to her far empire, and today Bishop Tugwell writes from amid the fevers of the African coast appealing to Christian England to stop deluging Africa with drink, not alone for the sake of the African, but as well because of its woeful effects upon the white man, saying:

"Nor is the African the only victim of this iniquitous system. Of the deaths which occur among Europeans on the coast probably 75 per cent are to be attributed to habits of drinking and drunkenness."

The question has a new force for the American people. We, too, now are sending forth "the best we breed to serve in heavy harness" under alien skies, and the same cursed "enterprise" that has sent X— beer wherever civilization goes is working their ruin. In one of our military prisons in Cuba there are today 23 Americans who a year ago left their homes as volunteers to fight their country's battles. They are under sentences of from three months to two and a half years, and one of them in an appeal just published says that nearly all of their offenses were committed under the influence of liquor. In the Philippines our boys face Aguinaldo's army in front while a host of newly opened American saloons stocked with X— beer and other like poisons prey upon them in the rear, until Bishop Thoburn, writing from Manila, says:

"Every alternate place of business seems to be a liquor shop of some kind, and the soldier has temptation before his eyes whichever way he may turn. Drunken soldiers meet me everywhere, and it is painful in the extreme to remember that many of them have come from Christian homes and that they have been thrust into the very jaws of a temptation from which only strong men can be expected to escape."

Even where our invasion is purely commercial the same train of evils extends, and the Rev. Dr. John W. Butler says in the City of Mexico:

"With the multiplying of American barrooms it is appalling to note in the City of Mexico the rapidity with which the American cemetery is filling up. I believe that about one-half of the graves made there during the past ten years were made by demon drink. Beer generally marks the spot, while pulque, tequila and whisky quickly consummate the awful work. While this sad goal is being reached hard earned wages which should go to family support here or in the homeland are simply squandered in the barroom or its worse annexes."

The "world" will "wonder" again some day that we could have been such a nation of fools as to allow X— or anybody else thus to spread world-wide a business whose fruits are so damnable.—New Voice.

Russia's Liquor Law.

The Russian government has adopted a somewhat drastic measure in order to suppress drunkenness in St. Petersburg. It has taken away from 25,000 shops the right to sell alcoholic liquors and has replaced these by 5,000 establishments placed under the control of the state and located at equal distances apart. These establishments are directed by young women. The liquor is delivered in bottles, to which is affixed a government mark. The consumer can obtain only one bottle in each shop, and if, when he visits another establishment, he shows the least signs of intoxication no liquor will be served out to him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Fracas In a Flat.

"Yes, I quarreled with Stiggins."

"What's the trouble?"

"We have adjoining suits in the same flat. Stiggins snores so that he shakes the partition. All I did was to ask him if he wouldn't kindly cut his snore into trombone lengths and load it into a mechanical piano."

"What did Stiggins say?"

"He advised me to get my ears weather stripped."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Obvious.

"What is a totem pole?" suddenly asked Mrs. Wipedunks, who had been reading about Alaska.

"You ort to know what that is from the word itself," answered Mr. Wipedunks severely. "A tote 'em pole is a long stick of wood the Chinese peasant puts on his shoulders when he wants to carry two buckets of water."—Chicago Tribune.

THE HAMLETINES.

There will be seven feminine Hamlets next year, and it behooves the real Hamlets to organize.—Chicago Tribune.

No less than seven female Hamlets are announced for the next dramatic season. For the happiness of the profession in general it is to be hoped that the number of them will not make it any the more difficult for the ghost to walk.—New York Press.

A Thrifty Wife.

A careful, prudent wife is a blessing to a man, especially to a poor man, but some wives are a little too careful. Lord Eldon's wife was somewhat "near," as they say in England. His lordship was very fond of hunting and retired to the country for a few weeks toward the end of the season, where he was in the habit of riding a little Welsh pony, for which he gave 50 shillings. One morning his lordship, intending to enjoy a few hours' sport, ordered Bob to be saddled. Lady Eldon objected, but as company was present gave no reason. In a few moments, however, the servant opened the door and announced that Bob was ready. "Why, bless me," exclaimed her ladyship, "you can't ride him, Lord Eldon. He has no shoes on."

"Yes, my lady; he was shod this week," said the servant.

"Shameful!" exclaimed her ladyship. "How dared any one have him shod without orders? John," she continued, addressing her husband, "you know you only rode the pony a few times last year, so I had the shoes taken off and have kept them ever since in my bureau. They are as good as new, and these people have shod him again. We shall be ruined at this rate."

If This Be Treason, Sneer at It.

She—Why, Mr. Smith, you don't mean to say you have taken up golf?

Smith (aged 78)—Yes; I found I was getting a bit too old for lawn tennis.—Punch.

"And now, gentlemen," remarks Mayor Maybury, "if you will step forward, please, one at a time, I will decorate you."—Detroit Free Press.

Inaugurations

come high, but we must have them. When we went into business we inaugurated a policy which has been received with pleasure by parties of all political creeds—a policy of liberality in dealing, of selling goods for just what they are, of refunding money for unsatisfactory goods, of promptness and politeness and, most important of all, accuracy in filling prescriptions.

There is no change of administration at our store this year.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 5.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

Attempt to Assassinate the Prince of Wales—Two Shots Fired at Him by an Anarchist.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM, April 4.—A sensational attempt to assassinate the Prince of Wales was made at a railroad station here to-day by Sipido, a young Anarchist, who fired two shots, but the Prince escaped unharmed. The would-be assassin was immediately arrested. The train bearing the Prince was just pulling out of the Northern railway station at 3 30, when Sipido jumped upon the footboard of the Prince's saloon car, aimed his revolver at his royal highness and fired twice. Hearing the shots the station master rushed to the scene and knocked down Sipido's arm as the latter prepared to fire a third shot, while bystanders rushed up and threw themselves on the Prince's assailant. In the confusion, another man, who was innocent, was seized, roughly handled and beaten.

Convention Hall Where the Democratic National Convention Was to Meet Among the Buildings Destroyed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 4.—Convention Hall where the Democratic National Convention was to have been held on July 4th, was laid in ruins in less than thirty minutes this afternoon by fire. The structure was doomed from the start and the firemen early turned their efforts to saving adjoining property. A stiff breeze was blowing and before the fire was subdued the Second Presbyterian church, one of the finest edifices in the city, the church parsonage, the Lathrop public school, a two story 13 room building; all situated across the way on Central street, and a half block of three-story flat buildings on Twelfth street, were totally destroyed. Several residences were damaged and for a time it was feared that several blocks of buildings in the residence district would go.

The aggregate loss is $400,000, apportioned as follows: Convention Hall $235.000, insurance $155,000; church $50,000, insured; parsonage $15,000, insured; school $35,000, insurance $20,400; Williamson block, Twelfth street, $60,000, insurance $45,000.

Hall to be Rebuilt.

Plans are on foot to rebuild Convention Hall immediately and have it ready for the Democratic convention in July.

The board of directors of the Convention Hall Company, at a meeting to night, decided to have the hall rebuilt before July 4th, and the work of clearing away the debris begins to-morrow.

The Alaskan code bill was taken up Senator Hansbrough's amendment for the exclusion of alien miners from the Alaskan mines was discussed, but action was postponed.

At 2 o'clock, Senator Lodge moved that the Spooner Philippine bill be made the unfinished business. This motion was agreed to, and the Philippine measure was then temporarily laid aside in order to permit the continuance of the consideration of the Alaskan bill.

Senator Perry suggested an amendment providing for the opening to miners and prospectors of the sixty feet of land along the Bering sea coast reserved under law for a roadway. Action was deferred.

Eighty-one private pension bills were passed, including $50 a month each to the widows of Rear Admiral Calhoun and Meade, of Commodore Inch and of Colonel Lyster.

The Senate then at 4.40 P. M. adjourned.

House of Representatives.

There was an exciting scene in the House to-day as a climax of a discussion of the Kentucky situation when Mr. Wheeler, a Kentucky Democrat, and Mr Pugh, a Kentucky Republican, faced each other from opposite sides of the main aisle and indulged in a wordy duel. Mr. Pugh charged Mr. Wheeler with misrepresenting certain facts. He was laboring under great excitement. Mr. Wheeler showed admirable temper, and though quick to resent the fancied insult, awaited the disclaimer of Mr. Pugh. There was an air of suppressed excitement throughout the debate. It was the first time the subject had been broached in the House and intense interest was manifested. The fencing was sharp and brilliant.

Without preliminary business, the House resumed consideration of the Hawaiian bill. Mr. McDowell, Ohio, one of the original opponents of Hawaiian annexation, was the first speaker. He inveighed against the labor conditions and corporation influence there.

The passage by the Senate of the Porto Rican bill was announced and the measure was immediately referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Boreing, Kentucky, who followed with a general political speech, aroused general interest by discussing the Kentucky situation. Holding the light of civilization before the world, as the United States were doing, were we, Mr. Boreing asked, willing to see the torch of liberty extinguished at the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln and the home of Henry Clay. So far as the Goebel election law of that State was concerned, he said, the people of Kentucky would be glad to exchange places with Porto Rico or Hawaii. They were not asking for Federal interference, they were asking simply for a fair election law. He gave notice that if necessary to get rid of the Goebel law, he would ask for the passage of a Federal election law. "I will not appeal on behalf of the colored race or of the Republican party," said he, "but for a general election law which will enable the Federal courts to reach out and determine the validity and constitutionality of the election laws of the several States."

Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky, replied in a fiery speech. He admitted that the situation was humiliating to every Kentuckian, but had hoped that it would not be ventilated here. He eulogized the Goebel election law. He would not confend that the dominant party had not taken advantage of its power in districting the State. It had done so following the tactics of the dominant party in most of the States. The threat of a Federal election law, he said, was used to terrorize the Democrats.

Mr. Boreing disclaimed any intention of threatening the Democrats. But the law must be repealed.

"It will never be repealed," retorted Mr. Wheeler.

Continuing, Mr. Wheeler said that "all the fuss was being kicked up in Kentucky by fellows who were trying to hold office in defiance of the courts, whose mandates they refused to obey."

Mr. Wheeler then became involved in the controversy with Mr. Pugh.

DEWEY'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

Many Telegrams Endorsing His Course Received by the Admiral—Will Make a Statement

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Admiral Dewey to-night expressed himself as very much gratified over the manner in which his announcement to be a candidate for the Presidency has been received by his friends. His manner likewise indicated that fact, as he chatted with a reporter for the Associated Press at his home this evening. Many telegrams have come to him to day, particularly from the South, and some also from the far West, endorsing his course and stating that he will receive the support of the signers in the campaign which he will make. The Admiral was in excellent humor and talked interestingly of a number of things in connection with his proposed candidacy, though concerning most questions asked him he requested that nothing be said at this time, as in due time he would make a statement to the public on the subject.

"Why is it, Admiral Dewey, that you have decided to become a candidate for the Presidency?" he was asked.

"Really, on that point," he answered, "there is nothing to add to what already has been printed on the subject. If the American people want me to be their candidate for this high office I shall gladly serve them.

"My determination to aspire to it was influenced by many friends who have written letters suggesting that I should be a candidate. These communications have come from all over the country; some from New York, a large number from the South and some from the Pacific coast. It was in response to these suggestions that I have taken the course announced."

Admiral Dewey has some very decided opinions on matters of public moment, and while expressing them in private prefers not to make any public announcement of them at this time. Platforms for parties, he believes, are not made by candidates for the high office of President. In connection with his determination to run for the office the admiral dwells with much pleasure and gratification on the warmth of the receptions that he has everywhere received in his various trips throughout the country, including the South particularly, and on numerous personal declarations that the people wanted him for President.

Much comment has been indulged in to-day by the public as to which of the great political parties the Admiral will ally himself with and from whom he expects to receive the nomination for the presidency. To questions bearing on this subject, he declares that he prefers not to make any statement at this time. To those who have talked with him privately on the subject, however, and who are fully acquainted with his views, it is evident that he does not expect a nomination to come from the Republican party.

TOLBERT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

A Band of Masked Men Were After Him, But Being Warned in Time He Got Away.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., April 4.—A special to the Constitution from Columbia, S. C., says:

James W. Tolbert, who was expelled from Greenwood county, after narrowly escaping severe handling, and whose brother is contesting the seat of Congressman Latimer in the Third district, narrowly escaped falling into the hands of a mob last night. Mrs. Tolbert is postmaster at McCormick, Greenwood county, a few miles from Pennix, and her husband arrived there yesterday. Last Spring Tolbert made overtures to the people of Greenwood, and on certain promises made to a newspaper man as to abstaining from politics, he was permitted to quietly return to that town. Subsequently he pushed his contest in Washington and denied the conciliatory statement attributed to him. He was thereupon again warned not to return to Greenwood.

At midnight a band of masked men went to the house Tolbert was in. A Democrat, prominent in the town, hearing of the contemplation, and being opposed to violence, sent a warning a few minutes before the house was surrounded, and Tolbert escaped from the back door. Tolbert fled to the depot and got on a train, but fearing a mob at Troy, stopped at the next station and is supposed to have spent the night in the woods. This morning he appeared at the house of W. W. Sturkey and appealed for protection.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS.

Take No Stock in the Announcement of Dewey's Candidacy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PARIS, TEX., April 4.—Hon. Jas. G. Dudley, of this city, the Texas member of the National Democratic Executive Committee, in answer to a telegram asking his opinion in regard to Admiral Dewey's candidacy for the Presidency, replies as follows:

"Admiral Dewey will not be nominated by the Democratic party. The lesson learned by the nomination of Horace Greeley is still remembered. Nor do I believe that he will be nominated by the Republican party. This is no time for military or naval heroes. General Scott's race for the Presidency might be consulted with some profit. If Bryan cannot beat McKinley this year the latter cannot be beaten for the Presidency."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Physician and His Wife Broken Down by Overwork.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—Dr. Vincenza Vaccari and his wife, of San Francisco, attempted suicide to-day. The woman's corset saved her, the knife barely penetrating, and the man cut his throat with a scalpel. They are being guarded to-night and will be sent to an insane asylum to-morrow.

Dr. Viccari broke down on account of overwork and he and his wife left for a long trip to Italy and Paris, taking along fifteen thousand dollars in money and jewelry. The doctor's mind became unbalanced on the trip and the wife's constant vigil dethroned her reason. Both will likely recover.

Julius Moyse, who during Mardi Gras, at New Orleans, impersonated Captain Clark of the Oregon, and married Miss Bertha Warken, of Cincinnati, was found guilty of impersonating a government officer. He was remanded for sentence.

BOERS THREATEN BLOEMFONTEIN.

The British Concentrating Their Forces and Watching the Aggressive Enemy.

SITUATION RATHER PUZZLING.

General Roberts Said to Be Hampered by the Lack of Transportation—Boers Confident—Mafeking Still Safe But Besieged.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, April 5, 5 A. M.—It looks to-day as though the Boers had conceived the audacious plan of attempting to invest Lord Roberts at Bloemfontein, or at least to endeavor to delay his northward advance by harrassing the British lines of communication. On his side Lord Roberts is concentrating his forces and preparing to take every advantage of the bold but risky tactics of the enemy. He is not likely to strike at any of his forces until he is certain of delivering a crushing blow. The situation in the absence of any official dispatch from Lord Roberts, is both mistifying and interesting. There is little doubt that Lord Roberts is hampered by the necessity for re-mounts and transport, and the loss of the convoy guns and all of Colonel Broadwood's baggage was a serious matter. The Boers are now trusting to what they believe to be their superior mobility.

The special correspondents at the front are now denouncing Lord Roberts' policy of leniency toward the Free Staters, and are calling for an abandonment of that policy.

A special dispatch announces that Mafeking was still besieged, but safe, on March 27th.

Situation Bewildering.

LONDON, April 4.—General Colville and General French have given up the movement against the Boers east of Bloemfontein and have rejoined the main army. Lord Roberts doubtless deemed it vain to send from ten to twelve thousand of his best troops into the wilderness with a field transport in the direction at a right angle with his chosen line of advance. The Boers have probably moved elsewhere and if to the southwest General Colville could as easily strike them from Bloemfontein as by following them up across the plains. These inferences still leave the situation bewildering for the time being. The enormously superior British forces appear inactive in every part of the war field, waiting yet probably for the accumulation of material for a swift advance on the Transvaal frontier.

The military commentators and the public to some extent are irritated and confused by the situation.

Boers Threatening British.

SPRINGFONTEIN, O. F. S., Tuesday, April 3.—Owing to information that the Boers are hovering in the neighborhood of the railroad running from this place to Bloemfontein, General Gatacre is preparing to take vigorous measures to cope with any attempt to cut [Lord] Roberts' line of communication at that point.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Monday, April 2.—General Colville's division and French's cavalry have returned here. Everything is quiet.

German Consul Insulted.

BERLIN, April 4.—The Schlesische Zeitung reports that Herr Malcomess, German consul in East London, Cape Town, has been grossly insulted by a mob which burned him in effigy.

The Berliner Tageblatt, which reproduces the announcement, says:

"If this news should prove to be true, it will be interesting to watch the German Foreign Office take action."

A Brilliant Charge.

LONDON, April 5.—The Daily Mail has the following from Bloemfontein dated Tuesday, April 3rd:

"Colonel Porter, with ninety carbineers and Scots Greys and two guns performed a brilliant deed Sunday. He charged a large body of Boers and rescued ninety odd British prisoners, including eleven officers, who were captured the previous day. There were no casualties on the British side."

RECEIVERS APPOINTED.

For the Southern Home Building and Loan Association of Atlanta.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., April 4.—Judge Don A Pardee, of the United States Circuit Court, has appointed Judge John T. Pendleton and William H. Henderson receivers of the Southern Home Building and Loan Association of Atlanta. The company has many shareholders in the Southern States, and its loans and other transactions extend from Texas to Virginia.

The closing of the affairs of the company will affect vast interests in some localities. The bill which has been filed will be followed by others in the States where the association operated and it is likely that the court, as soon as the receivers begin work, will appoint co receivers for each of the States where the corporation has assets.

The President has appointed Prof. Abraham C. Kaufman of South Carolina, a member of the board of visitors to the United States Military Academy.

W. B. Lowe, a financier, and for many years identified with manufacturing and building interests in Atlanta, died at his home there yesterday at the age of 70.

Col. W. J. Bryan will be cordially endorsed for the Presidency in 1900 by the Democratic State Convention which meets in Harrisburg, Pa., today to elect delegates to the National Convention at Kansas City.

Representative Underwood, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, has telegraphed all absent Democratic members of the House to come to Washington at once to remain until the vote on the Porto Rican tariff bill has been taken.

Full returns from the election in Kansas City, Mo., give James A. Reed, Democrat, for mayor, a majority of 2,127 over P. H. Brown, Republican. The Democrats elected their entire ticket except members of the lower house. Two years ago the Republicans carried the city by 1,439 majority.

VICTORIA IN IRELAND.

Crowds Lined the Roadway from the Pier to the Royal Residence—There Was Practically No Disturbance.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

DUBLIN, April 4, 11.45 A. M.—Queen Victoria landed in Ireland this morning for the first time in thirty-nine years. The disembarkation from the royal yacht was accomplished at 11.30. The commander of the forces in Ireland, the Duke of Connaught, the Lord Lieutenant, Earl Cadogan, and their staffs greeted her Majesty, and the ride from Kingston to Dublin was made in excellent weather. No sooner had the Queen arrived at the vice regal lodge and lunched than she drove out again to Phœnix Park, being much cheered.

Before landing the Queen, who looked remarkably well, asked for a bunch of shamrocks. These were secured and throughout the day she wore them pinned upon her breast.

From the pier at Kingston to the royal residence in Phœnix Park the distance is about nine miles. Crowds lined the entire distance, but there was practically no disturbance.

CASE AGAINST THE GAYNORS.

Judge Brown Refused a Warrant for Removal to Savannah.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Judge Brown, of the United States District Court, has refused a warrant of removal applied for in the case of Captain Carter's contractors, B. D. Greene, J. F. Gaynor, E H Gaynor and W. T. Gaynor, indicted in Savannah. He ordered the discharge of the prisoners without prejudice to further proceedings.

The grounds for the refusal were the absence of sufficient testimony as to the guilt of the accused.

Is It Satisfactory?

That's the question that goes with every purchase here. If it's not satisfactory, bring it back to-day—to-morrow—next week—and get your money. It is this absolute assurance of fair dealing that retains our trade. Our customers know that "money back" is not a cry set up to deceive the unwary into buying, followed by all sorts of unfair excuses and quibblings to avoid returning money on dissatisfying purchases. One of our mottoes reads: "For you to remain dissatisfied is to make us more dissatisfied." It isn't to-day's trade we're depending on—it's to-morrow's—next week's—next month's—next year's! We want you to be so well pleased with your treatment here and with what you buy here, that you'll come again and again. And we will remark right now that our efforts to please have been so uniformly successful that calls for "money back" are rarely made. But it's here just the same, for any and all demands that may be made for purchases returned as undesirable.
